Office of Public Assistance

237 West Main
Bozeman, MT 59715
(406) 582-3010
www.dphhs.mt.gov

Public Assistance Programs: The State Department of Public Health and Human Services administers a number of programs aimed at helping low-income Montanans move out of poverty and become self-sufficient.

Child Care Assistance: The department offers "Best Beginnings" child-care scholarships to qualified low-income families who send children to licensed child-care centers, registered group or family child-care homes, or legally unregistered child-care providers. Scholarships are available to low-income working families and families who get cash assistance through the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program.

Children's Health Insurance Plan (CHIP): CHIP is a low-cost, private health insurance plan that provides coverage for eligible Montana children up to age 19.

To be eligible, a child must:

- Be a Montana resident and U.S. citizen or qualified alien.
- Have been without health insurance coverage for at least three months.
- Be ineligible for Medicaid.
- Meet income guidelines.
- Have parents who do not work for the State of Montana.

Energy Assistance: The department offers two programs aimed at helping low-income individuals reduce their heating costs. The Weatherization Program helps participants to improve the heating efficiency of their homes thus reducing their energy consumption. The Low Income Energy Assistance Program (LIEAP) pays part of winter energy bills for eligible people. Most utilities offer discounts to LIEAP recipients.

Medicaid

Montana Medicaid is a joint federal-state program that pays for a broad range of medically necessary health care and long-term care for eligible low-income Montanans. Applicants must be Montana residents and U.S. citizens (or qualified non-citizen), and must fall into one of the following groups:

- Parents or other related adults with dependent children under age 19
- Children
- Pregnant women
- Women diagnosed with breast or cervical cancer or pre-cancer
- People aged 65 or older
- People who are blind or disabled (using Social Security criteria)

Medicaid recipients receive either full or basic Medicaid coverage based on which eligibility group they fall into. Those who are eligible for full coverage are able to get coverage for all services that Medicaid covers, assuming they are medically necessary. Full Medicaid is provided to recipients who are:

- Under age 21
- Blind or disabled
- Age 65 or older
- Pregnant

Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP): The program mission is to provide supplemental food assistance to low income people and improve the nutrition, health, and well being of SNAP recipients. The program was previously known as the Food Stamp Program.

Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF): TANF provides temporary financial assistance to needy families. A household may receive TANF benefits for no more than 60 months.

Those who may be eligible for TANF benefits are:

- Minor children.
- Certain relatives with whom minor children are living, including siblings.
- Women in their last trimester of pregnancy who have no other eligible children.
- Refugees with minor dependent children.

WIC: The goal of the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) is to give children the best possible start in life by ensuring that they get proper nutrition both in utero and during their preschool years. The program provides nutritious foods, such as iron-fortified cereal, milk, eggs, peanut butter, and dried beans, as well as formula for mothers who choose not to breastfeed. It also provides nutrition education to improve eating behavior.

To qualify for WIC, applicants must be either:

- A woman who is pregnant, breastfeeding, or recently had a baby.
- A child up to age 5.
- In all cases, applicants must meet income guidelines, and a health professional must consider their health to be at risk.

- Family Promise of Gallatin Valley in Montana is the only non-profit network of diverse faith organizations working together to help Gallatin Valley's homeless families with children. Each congregation provides shelter and meals, while each family is assisted by their professional social workers in finding and implementing lasting solutions to their unique situation. Based on a national program, FPGV is over 80% successful in getting families into stable housing and effective employment.
- Services/Programs
 - Host & Partner Congregations
About four to six times a year, for one week at a time, Host Congregations supported by volunteers from Partner Congregations provide overnight lodging, meals (supper, breakfast, and brown-bag lunch), and hospitality. Hosting rotates among the eight to thirteen Host Congregations in the Network, that provide lodging for three to four families (up to 12 individuals) from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 a.m. the next morning.
 - Family Center at Canterbury House
Each day from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., guests use the Family Center at Canterbury House on South Tracy Avenue for pre-school children, receive counseling from the Director, seek employment, and arrange appointments to implement the program. Many guests are employed and leave to go to work during the day. During the school year, children leave the center during the day to attend school. The Family Center provides guests with a mailing address and a home base from which to conduct their housing search. The Executive/Network Director's office is at the Family Center.
 - Transportation
If needed, FPGV transports guests to and from the Family Center and the current Host Congregation's facilities, along with the guests' luggage and the support materials, such as beds and linens.
